What Will Teachers Talk About?

Teachers will talk about your child's continuing progress including their relationships with others and how together we can ensure they achieve their best. We will also talk about the next steps in learning and the way in which you can help at home. We firmly believe that learning at Round Hill Primary School should be filled with creative opportunities and not just about academic progress. We will always place emphasis on children having fun and learning through a varied curricular experience.

Research shows that feedback has the biggest impact on children's learning and we strongly believe that having your child involved in the conversation will assist in their continued progress. On this basis we would encourage your child to come into all of the meeting. The teachers will be prepared for this to happen and if there are confidential things to talk about then your child can sit just outside of earshot for that element of the feedback.

Taking Time for Talk with Parents

We will again be offering some parents/carers longer consultation times. We call these 'Taking Time for Talk'. If the 'Taking Time for Talk' applies to you then your child's class teacher will be in touch with you directly.

Yours faithfully

Adrian Nash
