Dear Parents/Carers

Wellbeing Art Project

We are excited to share details of a whole-school wellbeing art project that will celebrate our children's sense of belonging and the unique contributions they each bring to our school community.

During Children's Mental Health Week (Monday 9th February to Friday 13th February), every child will take part in creating a large collaborative art installation for the small playground. The theme of the project is "belonging", and each pupil will contribute to the project by painting a pebble. We are asking for all children to bring in a pebble from home. The pebble does not need to be large - something that comfortably fits in a child's hand is perfect. If your child is able to bring in 2 pebbles, to help friends who may not have one, this would be fantastic.

In school, the children will paint their pebble with colours, patterns, or symbols that represent themselves, their family, or what belonging means to them. Once completed, all the pebbles will be arranged together to form a permanent installation that reflects the diversity, individuality, and unity of our school community.

Please could your child bring in their pebble by Friday 30th January.

If you have any difficulty finding a suitable pebble, please let us know and we will be happy to help.

We look forward to creating something truly special that the children can be proud of for years to come.

Thank you for your continued support.

Kind regards

Yours faithfully
